DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election of the species of Figures 3a-b in Paper No. 9 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claims 2 and 11 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Drawings

Figures 1-2 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g).

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the "cooling element forms a[n] substantially equal angle (B) to the longitudinal direction of the circulating element as the louvers form to the surface (C) of the cooling element" in claim 1 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered. In Figure 3b, the angle (B) is greater than 20 to 45 degrees as disclosed on page 3, first paragraph. However, the angle of $(90 - B)$ is substantially equal the angle (C). In fact, all of the embodiments of the instant invention depict the latter.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 10 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Itoh et al ^{et} JP 48-27263 (JP).

In the anticipatory rejection, Itoh et al meets all the claimed limitations when the angles $(90 - \theta)$ and (δ) are substantially equal. JP (Figures 6-7) discloses the angle of the louvers with respect to the fin and the angle of the fin with respect to the airflow are substantially equal.

In the obviousness rejection, one of ordinary skill in the art would employ any desired angles to achieve a desired heat exchange and/or pressure drop. Any increased angle relative to the airflow increases the pressure drop and the heat exchange.

Claims 12-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Itoh et al or JP 48-27263 (JP) in view of Applicant's admission.

The device of Itoh et al or JP lacks the cooling element composed of copper.

Applicant's admission (page 1, second paragraph) discloses corrugated fin strips are composed of copper, copper-based alloy, aluminum or aluminum-based alloy.

Art Unit: 3743

It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to employ in Itoh et al or JP corrugated fin strips composed of copper for the purpose of achieving a desired heat exchange as recognized by Applicant's admission.

Further, it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice.

In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.
